Cumberland County Improvement Authority's Leading Role in Coordinating Communication with Business Resources and the Businesses in the County

Gerard Velazquez

During the Covid-19 emergency, Cumberland County Improvement Authority (CCIA), under the leadership of its President and CEO Gerard (Jerry) Velazquez, played a critically important role by providing weekly conference calls providing important information from Federal, State and County government agencies to the business assistance and economic development officials in the County so that information could be shared with the business community and the public. Jerry Velazquez will talk about that communication role, the economic impact report CCIA commissioned on the effects of the Covid-19 crisis on our area economy, the ongoing progress on development projects and business attraction even during the health and business crisis, and the revision of the County's economic development strategy for 2020-2030.
